

Nation Honors Dr. Salk; Polio Vaccine Moves

NEW YORK (AP)—The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis says Salk vaccine orders will be filled from "the South up"—following the same system used in the field trials last year.

Dr. Hart E. Van Riper, the foundation's medical director, said Friday early closing dates for schools and an earlier beginning of the polio season in that part of the nation are the main reasons for such planning.

Van Riper said distribution of the drug will then proceed northward toward the Canadian border. Meanwhile, the grateful nation was paying homage to the man who conquered the dread disease.

Gift Funds Started
A huge welcome awaits Dr. Jonas E. Salk when he returns today to Pittsburgh, where he did his research.

In other parts of the nation spontaneously formed groups rallied to express their thanks to the Pittsburgh University scientist.

Salk, 40, gets no royalties for his work, his discovery is not patented. It is a property of the American people whose "dimes" made it possible.

Ideas to form "Funds for Salk" mushroomed throughout the country as one town followed another.

In Richmond, Va., M. B. Reynolds, a sales engineer, proposed a fund of thanks for Salk and immediately sent a dollar for each of the three members of his family to Salk.

His idea was picked up by the New York Daily Mirror. The newspaper proposed editorially a three-month campaign asking its readers to mail dollar contributions to a Salk fund.

Dimes At Ann Arbor
And in Mount Vernon, Ill., the Junior Chamber of Commerce mailed an $85 thank you gift—a dollar for each of its members.

There were many others who expressed thanks to the scientist in money gifts or telegrams.

In Ann Arbor, Mich., where the vaccine evaluation took place, station WPAG-TV has started a "Send Salk a Dime" drive. Almost immediately, responses started to pour in.

Members of Congress and various state legislatures have called for measures to commemorate Salk and his discovery. Organizations and foreign countries announced awards of medals to the scientist.

In country after country plans were set to start producing the vaccine.

Here at home, the Polio Foundation said that initial shipments are only 90 per cent of the vaccine needed for the first two shots. The 10 per cent leeway takes into account absenteeism from school and those children whose parents refuse the injection.

San Diego First
Van Riper said, however, that in any area where the 90 per cent supply falls short of protecting eligible children, additional supplies will be sent.

Shipments from large, vaccine-supplying firms, already were on their way to distribution points. Railway Express' 330,000 mile transportation network has been alerted for priority handling of the vaccine.

In San Diego, Calif., 30,000 children will get the vaccine shots today, in probably the first mass inoculation in the nation since the effectiveness of the vaccine was announced Tuesday.

In Mexico City, the Health Ministry said the United States has

Democrats Hope They Can Bury 'Loyalty Oath'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democrats strove for party harmony today as they got ready to honor House Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas at a $100-a-plate dinner.

With the party's top attractions on hand to demonstrate unity at the dinner, an advisory group moved to bury the troublesome "loyalty oath" issue that split the 1952 nominating convention.

Former National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell called the advisory group together to pass on recommendations for adoption of new rules under which most Democrats could bolt the party presidential ticket without the threat of party discipline.

Avoid Dixie Rebellion
National Chairman Paul M. Butler said he expected the advisory group to reach a final decision of the proposed new rules. He said the group's report would be submitted to the national committee at its next meeting, scheduled tentatively for next September in Chicago.

The proposed rules changes, generally interpreted as a bid to avoid another possible Dixie rebellion at the 1956 convention, would assign state organizations the primary responsibility for getting names of the party nominees on their state ballots.

The Truman-Barkley ticket was kept off the Alabama ballot in 1948. This led to demands for pledges by 1952 national convention delegates to support the party nominees. A furious convention row over the issue ended in a compromise statement that delegates should work toward getting the national ticket on state ballots.

On Opposite Sides
A report signed by Mitchell, Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.) and former Gov. John S. Battle of Virginia, recommended the advisory group and the national committee approve a three pronged resolution. Humphrey and Battle were on opposite sides in the 1952 "loyalty oath" fight.

It would state "the assumption and understanding" that in choosing 1956 convention delegates, state organizations would

'Right To Work' Bill Promoted

LANSING (AP)—The two senators who sponsor a "right to work" bill in the Michigan Legislature appealed today for public reaction to their proposal.

The appeal was broadcast in a public letter by Sens. Charles R. Feenstra (R-Grand Rapids) and Clyde H. Geerlings (R-Holland). They sponsor a bill which would outlaw closed shop and union shop agreements between employers and labor unions. The effect would be to permit employees to hold their jobs without joining a labor union.

The two senators said in a public letter that "we believe it is within our rights to join a labor union or not to join one. We believe it is within our rights to quit our job as an individual if we please, or to strike as a unit if we please, but we do not believe that we as individuals should have to submit to the will of any labor organization to whom we do not wish to pay monthly dues and then have no voice in the disbursement thereof."

Republican leaders have disavowed the "right to work" bill and said it will not pass the legislature.

Democrats Hope They Can Bury 'Loyalty Oath'

undertake to "assure" the national ticket a place on their ballots. But the resolution would say that "no commitments should be required of delegates to the Democratic National Convention in the absence of credentials contests . . ." This implied that the national convention might extract some assurances of ticket support from any delegation seated in a contest.

Truman Star Speaker
The resolution would provide that "it is the duty of every member of the Democratic National Committee to declare affirmatively for the nominees of the convention and that his failure to do so shall be cause for the . . . committee . . . to declare his or her seat vacant."

Former President Truman was on hand, billed as one of the stars of tonight's dinner in the National Guard Armory. Adlai E. Stevenson, the party's 1952 presidential nominee, was scheduled to arrive later in the day. Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt also was a featured guest.

Truman dropped in on Friday's national committee meeting. Given a standing ovation, he pledged his "sincere support to elect a Democratic ticket in 1956 from the White House on down." Truman earlier had said he favors Stevenson as the party's presidential nominee next year.

Van Wagoner Returns To Bridge Authority

LANSING (AP)—Former Gov. Murray D. Pat Van Wagoner, who resigned from the Mackinac Straits Bridge Authority because he had lobbied for the bridge's bonding company, was back on the Authority today.

In Gov. Williams' absence on a tour to the Near East, the executive office released Williams' announcement that Van Wagoner was being put back on the Authority to fill out the term from which he resigned in February of 1954. The term expires June 30, 1956.

Van Wagoner resigned after criticism of his appearance in the Legislature as a lobbyist for the bonding company which handled the Straits bridge bond issue. Van PARIS (AP)—Evangelist Billy Graham will tour six continental European countries following his mass meetings in Glasgow and London, a press adviser says.

The American evangelist will start in Paris June 5-11 and continue through Switzerland, Germany, The Netherlands, Norway and Sweden.

Graham's revival meeting in Paris will be his first full scale campaign in a continental city where he will have to use interpreters. In last year's tour, the evangelist confined himself to short stays in various cities.

Two hundred eighty persons in the same area have been evacuated. More slides are feared.

Delegates Fume At Secrecy Of Bandung Chiefs

BANDUNG, Indonesia (AP)—Some delegates to the Asian-African conference—a mammoth diplomatic show of 29 nations opening here Monday—wonder whether the stars are writing the script to please themselves.

They are openly questioning the purpose of the "little Bandung" conference held Friday in Rangoon by Indian Prime Minister Nehru, Red China's Chou En-lai and Abdel Gamal Nasser of Egypt, with Burmese Premier U Nu as host.

Arabs Suspicious
The four Premiers held two sessions Friday night, one before and one after a banquet. There was no hint of what they discussed although presumably it concerned the conference here.

Today all four are flying to Indonesia. Chou alone with his fellow delegates from Peking, and Nehru, Nasser and U Nu in another Air India International plane.

"What did they have to talk about that we couldn't all hear?" demanded an Arab delegate among the early arrivals in Bandung.

His question was echoed repeatedly in hotel lobbies here while the delegates—there will be 600 to 1,000 in all—were getting acquainted.

No one seemed to know the subjects under discussion at Rangoon and most were frankly concerned by what appeared to some to be a control caucus.

Chow Plays Safe
Egyptian delegates who arrived ahead of Nasser said it was Nehru who took the initiative in arranging the Egyptian leader's stop in New Delhi and the preconference meeting with Chou in Burma.

Red China's Premier was taking no chances on his journey to Bandung. He slipped out of Rangoon on his chartered Indian Skymaster ahead of Nehru, Nasser and U Nu. The plane had been under constant guard during its 36 hours

Economic Conditions To Be Leading Issue In British Election

LONDON (AP)—Britain's general election next month may well be fought around two main issues—the nation's economic health and her role in easing East-West tensions.

The battleground has been shaping up for months in parliament and press. It was thrown into sharp focus Friday night after Prime Minister Anthony Eden called for elections May 26.

Laborites Critical
Leaders of the opposition Labor party quickly declared that Eden's 10-day-old government was afraid to delay the election because economic conditions showed signs of worsening.

And there was renewed Laborite criticism because the Conservative government has not seen fit until now to press for big power talks on world problems. Eden went on the air Friday

Detroit Suspect Held In El Paso

EL PASO, Tex. (AP)—El Paso police are holding a 40-year-old man, on the request of Detroit police, in connection with recent rape-slaying of seven-year-old Barbara Gaca in Detroit.

El Paso police are holding James J. Dairy, Detroit, for investigation. Police say they were asked to pick up the man, a twice-convicted sex offender, by Detroit police.

Dairy, who said he would be glad to take a lie detector test and would waive extradition to Detroit, is on parole from the Iona (Mich.) hospital for the criminally insane.

He was taken into custody shortly before he was ready to leave for Juarez, Mexico, across the Rio Grande from this border city. He said he was going from there to Guanajuato, Mexico, to marry an unidentified woman he had met through a lonely hearts club.

Police said Dairy had been convicted in 1939 and again in 1949 for what were described as "minor" sex crimes.

He was on parole from the mental hospital in the custody of a sister in Traverse City, Mich.

Airliner Lands Safely With Flat Nose Wheel

NEW YORK (AP)—A Pan American World Airways plane enroute from Puerto Rico landed safely Friday night at Idlewild Airport despite a flat nose-wheel.

The DC4, carrying 71 passengers and a crew of five, blew the tire while taking off from San Juan.

As crash trucks stood by at Idlewild, Capt. W. W. Salter of Miami brought the craft down on its main wheel gear.

The new violence was reported in the strike by about 25,000 non-operating employees of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad. Meanwhile, National Mediation Board members in Washington continued efforts to end the walkout. But about 4,000 additional L&N workers planned to strike Monday.

Train Sabotaged
The derailment of a passenger train near Nashville, Tenn., Friday night, in which 30 passengers were shaken up, was called sabotage by a rail official.

Workers Refuse Cut
The CIO Textile Workers Union struck in 23 cotton textile mills in Maine, Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Vermont. The workers stayed away in support of demands for a new contract and refused to take a 10 cents an hour cut in wages and fringe benefits.

Some 37 other mills have agreed to renew contracts. The workers now receive an average of $1.30 an

New Road Bill Calls For Boost In Gasoline Tax

LANSING (AP)—Michigan's Legislature may remain in Lansing beyond the June 3 adjournment date unless lawmakers settle two highway problems.

Both Houses approved the June 3 adjournment yesterday, but Senate Republicans added two big "ifs."

Republican senators emerged from caucus to announce they will extend the session unless a highway program is approved and the state gets a big chunk of federal aid for the proposed Houghton-Hancock bridge across the Portage Canal.

Trunklines Come First
The legislators are seeking about $1,000,000 in Federal aid for the proposed $5,100,000 bridge.

The snarled-up highway situation got a new twist yesterday when Rep. William I. Bowerman (R-Lansing) offered another highway bill.

Bowerman's proposal, filed a few minutes after adjournment, would increase gasoline taxes by one-and-one-half cents per gallon. Three-quarters of the money would go to the State for trunklines and one quarter would be given to cities and counties.

Counties would receive 37-56ths of the city-county share, while cities would get 19-56ths.

The proposal closely resembles the bill before the House-Senate conference committee, except that it calls for a 10 per cent increase in truck license fees and proposes a different system for distributing the counties' share.

In Before Deadline
A measure providing for involuntary commitment of alcoholics to state hospitals ran into difficulty in the house.

Rep. Richard D. Smith (R-Bay City) said the bill does not contain enough safeguards for the individual. Other members said there would be difficulty in distinguishing an alcoholic from a hard drinker.

The House also passed and sent to the Senate a bill extending workmen's compensation coverage to school safety patrol officers.

Bills filed before the deadline included those to:

Forbid a horse race track license to any charitable organization or one which distributes its income to a charitable organization.

Forbid the State Turnpike Authority to issue toll road bonds for more than 4½ per cent interest or to sell them at less than par plus accrued interest.

Permit the state health commissioner to regulate the sale, manufacture and distribution of Salk polio vaccine.

Eliminate legal permission for persons to kill dogs which trespass on private property outside of cities.

Four Killed, 3 Hurt, As Teenagers' Auto Crashes Into Tree

POMONA, Calif. (AP)—Four teenagers were killed and three others were seriously injured when their speeding car careened from a highway and crashed into a tree Friday night.

Investigating officers said the sedan must have been traveling at "terrific speed." An ambulance driver said one of the bodies was hurled against a power pole with such force that a section at the top of the pole was snapped off.

Store Bombed In Portland, Ore.
PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—A heavy explosion in a crowded Portland department store was under a quiet but intense investigation by police today.

The sharp blast at mid-afternoon Friday wrecked a third-floor restroom in the 12-story Meier & Frank Department Store. Portland's largest. Two persons were injured, but not seriously. A row of elevators cut off the shock from the shopping area.

Asst. City Fire Marshal Walter Stickney said the explosion was caused by a black powder explosive, probably homemade. However, Police Chief James Furell Jr., had no comment other than that the force was looking into it.

The noise and concussion of the blast were heard and felt in buildings outside the store. Glass, chunks of window casing and bits of masonry were hurled across the street but there was no fire.

Reports on the violence of the blast varied with the observer from small to "like an earthquake." There was no panic. Within a few minutes after the explosion traffic was flowing normally through the store.

Recounts May Follow April 4 Vote Canvass

LANSING (AP)—The Board of State Canvassers hopes to determine who won the April 4 spring election late next week.

Officials said a meeting of the board had been tentatively fixed for April 25 but that probably it could be scheduled late in the preceding week to certify the result of official canvasses from the 83 counties.

Recounts still are expected in several races.

The board said it had returns from all but three counties—Wayne, Charlevoix and Marquette counties.

It said Marquette County reported that two members of its canvassing board had gone on vacation without signing the official canvass, but that it hoped to report its returns by early next week.

A sample check of the canvass indicated that Dr. Clair L. Taylor, Republican state superintendent of public instruction, has gained slightly in his re-election race with Democrat Lynn M. Bartlett of Grosse Pointe.

A combination of unofficial and official returns showed Taylor's margin of victory slightly more than 4,000 votes. However, official returns from Wayne County are expected to pull this down 700 to 900 votes.

Peninsula First To Be Ready For 'Michigan Week'
HOUGHTON (AP)—Michigan's Upper Peninsula is the state's first area to be completely ready for Michigan Week, Dr. Grover C. Dillman, chairman of the event, said today.

He said one of the special projects planned for the week (May 15-21) in the UP is the Michigan Tech Engineering Show which attracted over 15,000 visitors in 1953. Hundreds of engineering projects will be exhibited in the show.

Tighter Liquor Laws Favored

Efforts are being made by the Upper Peninsula Law Enforcement Officers Association to have the state officials enact more stringent regulations regarding sales of liquor to minors.

At their meeting in Iron River's Iron Inn Thursday afternoon, the law enforcement officers adopted several measures aimed at curbing sales of liquor to minors.

The 87 police and other law agency officials voted:

1. To ask the State Legislature to make furnishing liquor to minors—second offense a more serious violation than the first offense.

2. To ask the Michigan Liquor Control Commission to require all SDD and SDM licensees to carry on packaged liquor they sell labels designating the store or name of the licensee.

Seek Source Of Violation
As the law now stands, there is no distinction between a first, second or third offense on furnishing liquor to minors, and consequently all are misdemeanors, handled in municipal or justice courts. The maximum sentence in such cases is a 90-day jail sentence or a $100 fine or both.

If the second offense was made a high court misdemeanor, it would be handled in circuit court, and the maximum sentence could be a one-year term in the county jail.

The Association points out that

Delta Second In Farm Income

Delta County ranks high among the 15 Upper Peninsula counties as an agriculture area, according to an analysis of the recent survey "Industry Location Advantages of Michigan's Upper Peninsula".

This survey was made by the Michigan Chapter of the National Society of Industrial Realtors, and published by the Michigan Economic Development Department.

The following analysis has been prepared by the Public Information Division at Michigan Tech.

Second In Farm Income
In annual value of farm products, Delta County ranks second with $4,309,000.00. Its annual income per acre of cultivated land is $23.42, and Delta County ranks second in the Upper Peninsula with an annual average income of $3,710.00 per farm.

The analysis reveals that the median age of Delta County residents is 29.9 years, and 28.8 percent have completed high school.

On the average, there are 4.9 rooms for each residence in the county, and 69.4 percent of residences are owned by the occupants.

Delta County ranks fourth in annual retail sales with $28,500,000.00. There is one doctor for each 1,770 residents as compared with a national average of approximately one per 2,000.

Leading Counties
Leading counties in the Upper Peninsula for various categories are as follows.

Chippewa County has the lowest average median age of residents with 27.2 years. It also has the lowest ratio of doctors with one for each 1,200 people.

Dickinson County has highest owner occupancy of residences with 77.5 percent.

Gogebic County leads in average farm income per cultivated acre with $31.50.

Marquette County leads with the highest median family income per year at $2,936.00. Delta County ranks 8th in this category with $2,478.00.

Menominee County has the highest annual income per farm at $3,850.00 and a total annual value of farm products at $7,114,000.00.

Children have to bring their request forms which have been signed by the parents, to the clinic at time of vaccination. The Salk vaccine request forms were given to the first and second graders to take home to their parents for signatures earlier in the week.

there have been cases where SDM (Special Designated Merchant) and SDD (Special Designated Dealer) licensees have sold liquor to minors.

In cases where minors are apprehended for traffic or criminal violations resulting from their having possession of liquor or beer, the officers would be able to trace the bottle to the dealer and thereby get at the source of the case, they said.

Cooperation Asked
Cooperation of the Michigan Sheriffs, Police Chiefs, Prosecuting Attorneys and Circuit Judges Associations and the joint legislative committee is asked to achieve these measures.

Officers also discussed various ways and means of handling the problem of littering roads and highways, and the Association's legislative committee was asked to study the problem.

An annual award for the person or persons rendering the best cooperation to law enforcement agencies was suggested, and a committee chaired by Sergeant James A. Smith, commander of the Marquette State Police Post, was named to study the proposal.

Others on the committee include Willard Welch, Sault Ste. Marie police chief; Jack Finn, Escanaba police chief; Ralph LaRock, Iron River police chief, and Fabian Trast, Ironwood, Gogebic County deputy sheriff.

Guardsmen Ready For Test Alert

All members of Company C 107th Engineers have been briefed on many phases of the coming National Test Alert for all state guard units. Guardsmen have been instructed on their participation in this operation, and a total of 106 enlisted men and officers are awaiting the zero hour of Operation Minuteman, which is expected any day now.

The State of Michigan has also reached a new high in enlistments in the National Guard. From the little band of 200 who joined the Guard in the war of 1812, the State Guard total has grown to include 13,388 enlisted men and officers, counting the Air and Army Guard units.

The local engineer unit still has vacancies for four men. It is striving to reach full strength of 110 and be the first company of the five units in the 107th Engineer Battalion to reach full authorized capacity.

Capt. Roy Johnson has announced the following promotions in the company, effective at once: To Corporal Arnold Breitman, Rte. 1; Jerome Drombrowski, Bark River; and Daniel Searles, Gladstone.

Smelt Season Is Here Again; It's Big Business In This Area

THE annual smelt run is under way in Delta County and although the smelt season may lack the fanfare and carnival atmosphere that prevailed at smelt time in pre-war years, there is no doubt that the economic value of the smelt season is much stronger now than it was in pre-war years.

Smelt processing has become a rather substantial industry in this area. Hundreds of thousands of pounds of smelt are packed each spring in quick-frozen packages for

Try And Stop Me By BENNETT CERF

Sports analyst John Drebing poops experts who declare that the Giants' present manager, Leo Durocher, is cast in the same mould as his famous predecessor, "Mugsy" McGraw. Durocher, points out Mr. Drebing, fiddles around and experiments with his line-up all through the spring months, with the result that his Giants are usually still buried in the second division come July, and have to play like fury in the stretch to make a respectable finish.

McGraw, on the other hand, believed in getting his club away winging. When the team didn't have it, the collapse in mid-season often was complete—but by that time the club's coffers were bulging. "In New York," he argued, "the first half of the season spells financial success or failure. July and August offer too many counter-attractions. If you're still in the running, September crowds are pure velvet. But you've got to get those big attendances in the first half of the season to at least break even on the year."

Bible Times And The Present

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.

This column was originally devoted to the International Sunday School Lessons, and the comment, though always independent and reflecting the writer's own observations, was usually confined to a particular lesson.

For some years now the comment has been of a more general nature, designed to assist Bible readers in a general appreciation of the Bible, to help them toward understanding its teachings, and especially to application of its teachings to life today.

It is understandable why one should devote much time and thought to the New Testament, to the story of Jesus of Nazareth, to His teachings, to the Gospel of the grace of God—to all that is comprised in the Christianity that came out of the New Testament in its records concerning Christ and the Church.

But why should one devote much study to the history of dead kings, who fought for power, who ruled over a comparatively small nation; a country only about the size of a smaller American state, set in the midst of great and powerful ancient empires?

Why, in short, should one devote much study to the history of ancient Israel? That history, of course, in its Old Testament is much more than the history of wars and kings. It is the Old Testament of the Ten Commandments, of the vision and inspiration of saints and prophets, of precepts of truth and righteousness, of Psalms in all their variety of human experience and aspiration. It was the Bible of Jesus and His disciples; of which, one, Saint Paul, wrote: "All scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness" (II Timothy 3:16).

But what of the Books of Kings and of Chronicles, with pages that are red with blood and violence, with kings misgoverning their people and leading them in the downward path?

The prophets live, but what about the Kings?

Yet it is precisely because those Books of Kings and of Chronicles are what they are that they have been studied, and should be studied, in every age. Here are the concentrated examples of instruction and warning, the story of heroism and courage, and faith, achieving triumph and prosperity. But there also is found a record of how failure and disaster comes upon a nation and people when there is moral and spiritual decay, and a people's betrayal of themselves and their God.

The period of Israel's history under its kings corresponds roughly to the period of history in America since Columbus' discovery. Here in concentrated form is the story of what can happen within a few hundred years, if dissension and division are allowed to develop, if personal and social wrongs go uncorrected, if rulers and peoples betray their trust.

If we would read these Books aright, they ought to be read, not just as ancient documents, but in relation to the life of today.

Do we listen to moral and spiritual guides and prophets with more wisdom than those who despised the prophets of old? A host of questions and problems arise for those who would read the history of Israel in the light of today.

Today And Tomorrow

By WALTER LIPPMANN

Since his return from East Asia Mr. Dulles has been talking much and in ominous language. His theme has been that we must be determined and decisive in refusing to retreat any further in Asia. But he has not said this with the cool precision of a statesman whose task it is to clarify the issues and to define and to declare policy; he has been exhorting the country with the heady generalities which—before and during wars—are employed to heat up popular emotion.

The tone of his utterances has created an impression at home and abroad that he is converted to the view of those who regard a war with China as inevitable and that, therefore, it had better be fought now when we can destroy Red China's war potential rather than postponed to a time when Red China is much stronger. I do not share this opinion that Mr. Dulles has come to believe in a preventive war, though no one should be surprised that what he has been saying has given rise to that opinion. I do not now believe that on the ultimate issue of preventive war vs. preventing war Mr. Dulles differs as much from the President as the tone of his speeches would suggest.

To my ear, at least, Mr. Dulles has not sounded like a man who has taken a great decision and is then resolute and confident. He has sounded anxious and filled with foreboding, as if he had had a nasty shock when he was in Southeast Asia and in Formosa. He has not been talking like the leader of a people in a dangerous time who, out of the clarity of his own conviction, gives courage to his people. He has been talking like a man who is troubled because he is unsure in his own mind, like a man who is not remembering how infectious is fear in high places.

FORMOSA PREDICAMENT

As reflected in his speeches the emotional impact of his trip was big: Was this due to evidence which he found of an increasing danger of war in the Formosa Strait? That might, of course, be an explanation. There is ground for worrying that the President has been gotten into a horrid position where he is supposed to decide after an attack begins whether to abandon to captivity and perhaps to execution, or to try to save, an important part of the Nationalist Chinese army. But I do not think this worry explains the mood of foreboding in Mr. Dulles's utterances since he came back. Nobody needs to go to Southeast Asia to learn about the predicament in the Formosa Strait. It is evident enough in Washington.

My guess is that his foreboding and his despondency, approaching at moments a sense of doom, spring from his having realized by seeing at first hand what it is not so easy to appreciate at a distance. This is how frail are the Asian reeds which we are leaning upon.

In Thailand, Laos, Cambodia, South Vietnam and Formosa Mr. Dulles conferred with potentates, officials, officers, and politicians on whom depends our policy in that part of the world. It can have been only too painfully obvious how much is at stake on how weak a foundation. The authority of these governments is frail. The allegiance of factions, sects and clandestine groups among them is uncertain. For the containment of Communist expansion we are relying primarily not on strong allies but on a rampart of client states, extending from Japan through Formosa through Southeast Asia. Several of the vital sectors of the rampart are vulnerable to subversion, to conspiracy, to corruption and to seduction.

INSIDIOUS THREAT

What makes our situation so baffling is that this outer rampart of ours is threatened even if the Communists make no attempt to conquer it by military assault. Against military conquest we have the military means to give a good account of ourselves. The insidious threat, however, is that the rampart will crumble, and against that the Seventh Fleet and our nuclear weapons provide no relevant and effective remedy. Nor do exhortations to the Americans not to retreat. Our real problem is how to keep this outer rampart from falling apart.

The question which I venture to raise is whether the campaign which Mr. Dulles has been conducting is strengthening or is weakening our position in the rampart of client states from Japan through Formosa to Thailand. Apparently he believes that he is rallying the waverers in Asia who wish to be on the side of the winner. Is he sure that this is a sufficient view, that it is not an example of what in his address Monday evening at Georgetown University he described as "a habit of mind which is sometimes called 'localitis'" when "those who only see part of a problem quickly find a solution which seems 'obvious' . . . though 'the obvious' solution is no solution at all?"

Into The Past

10 YEARS AGO

Escanaba—Local bank debits showed an increase of more than 5 per cent over last year for this month according to a survey published today. These figures were based upon the volume of check withdrawals at local banks. Only Marquette was higher in the U. P.

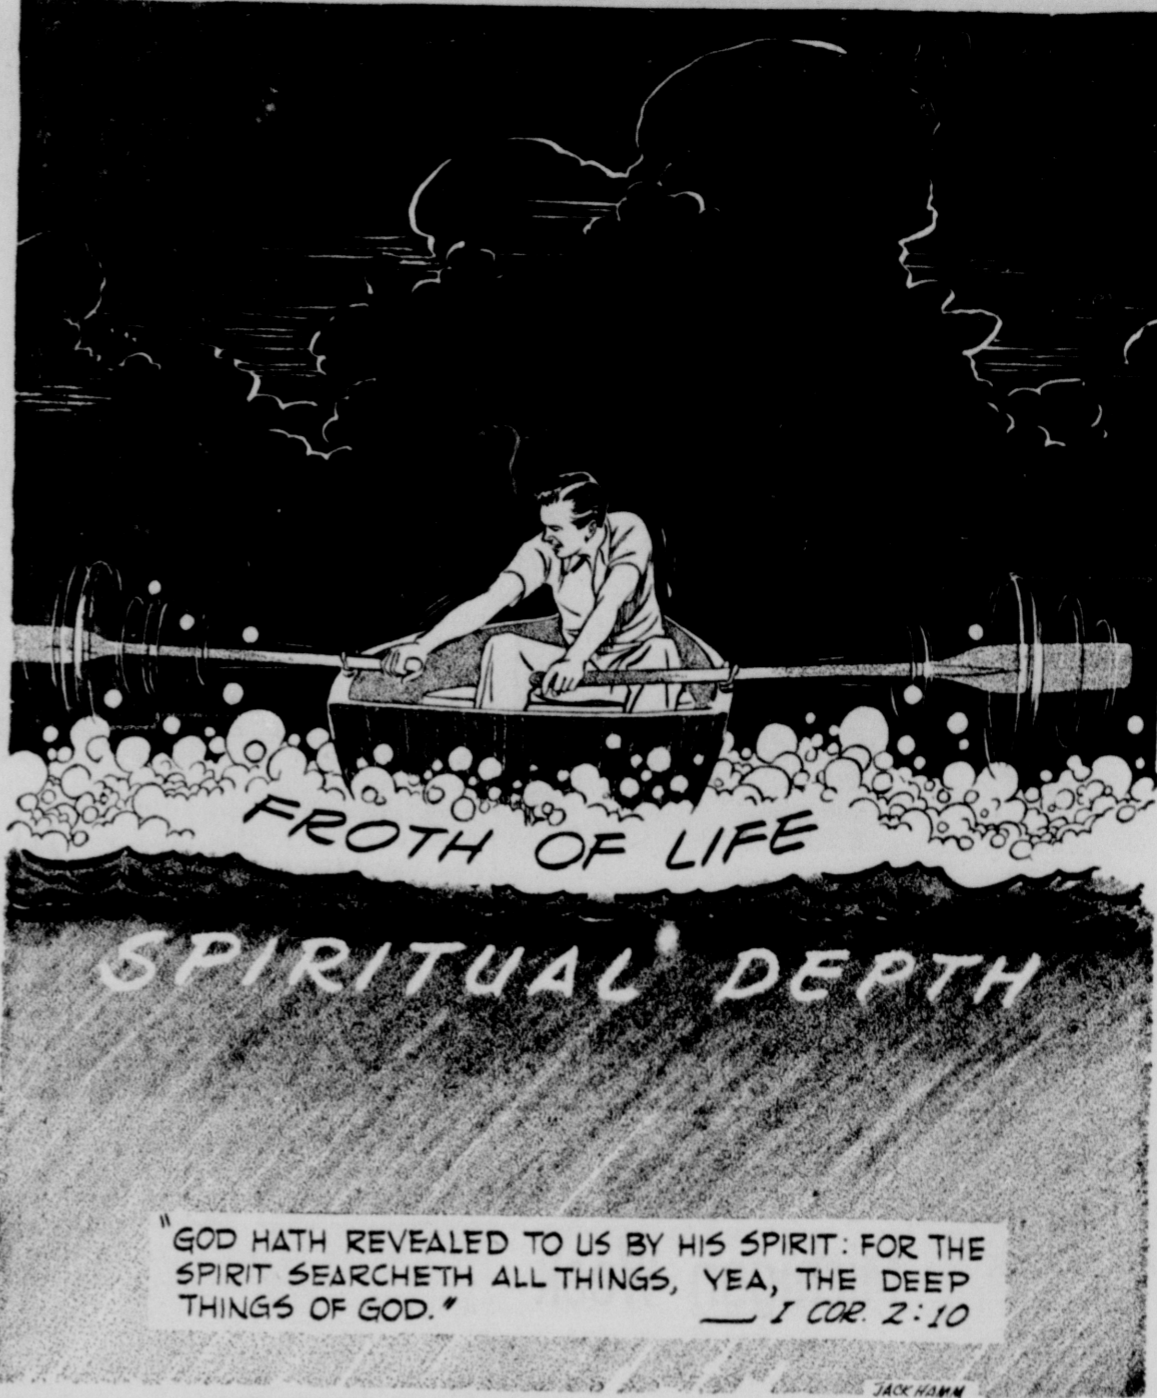

Manistique—Dr. James H. Fyvie, local physician now in the armed service, has been promoted to the rank of Major, according to a dispatch just received.

Gladstone—Mrs. Charles Potvin has returned from Wyandotte, where she spent three and one-half months visiting with Mrs. Clarence Ellison.

20 YEARS AGO

Escanaba—Senator Huey P. Long enjoyed the smelt sent him by officials of the Smelt Run celebration. A telegram to that effect, sent by the senator, was received here the first of the week.

Pee-Wee A-Bomb Rates As Tops In Military Impact For U. S.

LAS VEGAS, Nev.—(NEA)—Big atomic blasts might make the best show for the spectators. But the small shots have the big significance for the current test series. And they could have even greater significance if war came to Asia.

Great strides which have been made in getting more blast from smaller bombs are behind bold statements by Secretary of State Dulles that the U. S. is ready to use atomic weapons as "conventional" in any major war. To help to explain President Eisenhower's statement that A-bombs "should be used just exactly as you would use a bullet."

A group of "pee-wee" A-bombs currently being tested is sure to have a great impact on all future military tactics. Results obtained from one small blast are reported to have been valuable enough to pay for the entire series.

Some of the devices being detonated are much smaller than the 280 mm. atomic cannon shell fired here two years ago for the first time. They give an atomic potential to a whole range of land, sea and air weapons and greatly enhance the nation's growing stockpile of guided missiles.

It's logical that the smaller bombs do not always make maximum efficient use of fissionable materials needed to set off a nuclear detonation. But several recent developments have in effect made the raw fissionable materials abundant enough to ignore this fact.

In other words there is plenty of radioactive material on hand to waste some, perhaps, in order to win the other advantages of smaller bombs.

It's possible that the smaller bombs can give an atomic punch of cruisers, destroyers and even smaller ships of the Navy. On land they could be fired from tanks or by mortars or smaller, more mobile artillery pieces.

In the air all combat Air Force planes are capable of dropping atomic bombs. But with even the fastest fighters able to carry several smaller A-bombs, their tactical punch is magnified many times.

The first atomic shell fired and detonated was about 11 inches in diameter, four feet long and weighed less than 1000 pounds. The newer pee-wee devices being tested are believed to be much smaller and lighter. But even if you assume that one weighs 1000 pounds, it's easy to demonstrate how they add fantastic punch to various weapons.

It's impressive even when you base estimates on one of the smallest bombs detonated during this series. That is one with a blast equivalent to 4000 tons of TNT, or one-fifth of the power of the bomb dropped over Nagasaki, Japan, in 1945.

Here's what you get by loading them into a couple of Air Force planes: An F-84 can carry a 400-pound bomb load, or four atomic pee-wees. If each bomb carrier is loaded with only 4000 tons of TNT, the F-84 can then drop the equivalent of 32 million pounds of TNT.

Stated in other terms it means that one F-84 loaded with atomic weapons is the equivalent in potential bomb blast of 800 F-84's carrying TNT.

The speedy B-47 bomber carries a 20,000-pound bomb load. Of course, it can deliver the big strategic A-bombs, too. But armed with 20 pee-wees for tactical use, one B-47 could lay down a line of destruction over advancing enemy troops equivalent to 160 million pounds of TNT.

Exact bomb load capacity of the new supersonic F100 is secret, but it's assumed that it could deliver at least two or three of the smaller A-bombs.

As you increase the yield—or boom—and reduce a bomb's weight, it's obvious that you add tremendous hitting power to each plane in the Air Force.

For instance, if the pee-wee bombs weigh 500 pounds—and that's possible—the F-84 can carry the equivalent of 64 million pounds of TNT and is equivalent to 1600 F-84's carrying conventional bombs.

This makes it apparent why it pays off to put effort on developing and improving smaller bombs.

The same reasoning applies to Army tanks, for instance. A large tank ordinarily carries about one ton of big caliber shells, which means it could carry two small A-bombs which it could fire from its front gun.

This could give it the firepower of the equivalent of eight million pounds of TNT. The matter of storage of atomic weapons in a tank is easily solved, according to the experts.

The big guns on big tanks hurl a shell far enough so that the occupants of the tank are not injured from their own blast.

This development also applies to the guided missile field. As A-bombs are made smaller and lighter they become adaptable to more types of missiles.

Edson In Washington

By PETER EDSON

(NEA Washington Correspondent)

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—The State Department story on Edward J. Corsi—ousted by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles as his special assistant on immigration and refugee problems—is that he turned out to be like a big prize bull released in the State Department's rather brittle china shop.

A lot of people have been bleeding over Mr. Corsi's sudden demise as a bureaucrat—including Mr. Corsi. Well-intentioned, warm-hearted, generous and likeable, Mr. Corsi thought everybody in the world was his friend, and wasn't far wrong.

But Mr. Corsi was also impulsive and unpredictable. He couldn't be bothered with red tape or regulations. And every once in a while State Department officers administering the Refugee Relief program would wake up with a start to discover that Mr. Corsi had gone way out on the end of a limb to commit them to some fantastic scheme that just couldn't be done under the law.

THERE WAS, FOR INSTANCE, Mr. Corsi's big idea to bring over a thousand Italian cooks and bakers in a sort of "Operation Pizza Pie." He got all enthused about that one. He was going to bring them all over on one boat. He would have the boat arrive in New York Harbor on the Fourth of July. He would have the boat sail up the Hudson River, to some nice park he had in mind, where they would all debark and have a picnic. Mr. Corsi would be on hand to welcome them and make a speech.

He was always making speeches. Up in Philadelphia he made a speech about some poor refugee he had seen on his inspection trip in Europe. He painted a tearful word picture of this unfortunate man. A number of people in the audience came forward and wanted to sponsor his admission to the United States as a refugee immigrant.

The trouble was, Mr. Corsi couldn't remember the man's name or what camp he had seen him in. The State Department tried to find him, but after a lot of time-wasting in diligent search, they gave up. By that time all the Philadelphians who had wanted to sponsor this unfortunate man gave up in disgust.

EARLY IN MARCH the Department of State gave Mr. Corsi a written directive that he was to make no speeches and issue no statements that had not been given prior clearance. That helped some. But by that time Mr. Corsi had upset the State Department's protocol-polished apple cart so often they decided they'd better let him go.

What really got Mr. Corsi in the end was his admission to a high State Department officer that he wanted to run for the U. S. Senate from New York in 1956. He had apparently thought he could use the refugee job to build up a big foreign-born vote following.

Mr. Corsi was in hot water almost from the first day he hit Washington. He had been getting $20,000 a year as New York's Commissioner of Labor and Immigration under Gov. Thomas E. Dewey. He wanted that much in Washington. But the most he could get under Civil Service was $13,000 a year. They finally stretched a point and made it $13,700, but it still wasn't enough to suit him.

HE DIDN'T LIKE THE OFFICE SPACE assigned him. He worked for a time in the back office of Scott McLeod, Security administrator, who by law is given responsibility for the refugee program. That was the job Mr. Corsi wanted—that and a free hand. He wanted to open an office for himself in New York, but they stopped him on that one.

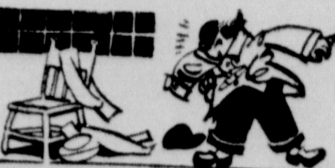

His correspondence was voluminous. But more than half of it was personal and social. In one exchange of letters he got all involved in a big surplus butter deal, from which he had to be extricated because that was the business of Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson.

Mr. Corsi would accept an invitation to any meeting—for a speech—or to join anything. That was what made his security clearance so difficult. He wasn't subversive in the least. But out of pure good fellowship he had attended and joined a lot of things more discreet people stayed out of.

The State Department was going to reveal all this and a lot more. Then they decided to forget it. Still as a lifelong Republican, Mr. Corsi still can't understand why he's getting the gate. He thinks he got a raw deal.

Airline Stewardess Finds Job Has Many Interesting Experiences

"Off we go into the wild blue yonder" seems to not only apply to those people serving with the United States Air Force but also to the crew members of the commercial airlines, such as Josephine "Jo" Albertano, a stewardess with North Central Airlines.

Jo, an attractive brunette from Milwaukee, has been with North Central the past 10 months and is presently on the flight from Detroit to Escanaba. She leaves Detroit on the 8 a. m. flight and arrives in Escanaba at 11:30 a. m. After about a five hour layover, the plane leaves the Escanaba airfield and arrives at Detroit at 8:05 p. m.

Previous to her hostess training, Miss Albertano was employed as a ticket agent eight months for Delta Airlines at Chicago. She received her ticket agent training at Central Technical Institute at Kansas City, Mo. After the six weeks' training period, different airline agents came to the school for job interviews, and Jo began working for Delta Airlines.

Safety And Service

Last year when North Central Airlines began replacing their stewards with stewardesses, the native Milwaukeean became interested in flying. She and other prospective stewardesses received a week's training in Minneapolis, which was sponsored by North Central. Since North Central has only one type of equipment and meals are not served during flight, the young women were taught two basic courses, safety and service.

At the present time, North Central employs approximately 35 hostesses and there are about 10 or 15 stewards left. Eventually, the stewards will be all replaced. Their flights include the Upper Peninsula, Lower Peninsula, Green Bay, Milwaukee, Chicago and Minneapolis. A new run between Detroit and Chicago has been added and will take in the cities of Jackson, Battle Creek, Kalamazoo and South Bend, Ind. This run will start May 1.

"I work two days in a row and have two days off," Jo, who is well satisfied with this arrangement, happily stated. "The maximum hours that hostesses are permitted to fly in one month is 85 and not more than 30 hours in a seven day period. If we do fly about 30 hours in one week, then we have a period of 24 hours off duty."

She declared that it was impossible to work five days in a row because that would mean more than 30 hours for the week. During the winter months, the number of days that a hostess works and does not work is slightly different because the plane does not tie up at Houghton overnight due to the lack of a hanger.

At the middle of each month, the airline sends the schedule for the next month to the employees, and the hostesses usually bid for blocks, a certain flight which they may want. If two hostesses bid for the same block, seniority is the determining factor.

"I live in Ypsilanti, which is closer to Willow Run Airport than Detroit," Jo mentioned. "The home in which I live is very large and houses mostly air line personnel, hostesses, ticket agents, reservationists, etc. It is much like living in a dormitory except there are the rules and regulations, as to time, which would be almost impossible with the changing hours that most of us work."

Attractive Uniforms

The uniforms of the North Central stewardesses are neat and attractive. The uniform consists of a teal blue tailored suit and cap worn with a white blouse. Cocoa brown shoes and purse are the standard accessories. Plans also are in process for a brown summer uniform.

There are several requirements for a stewardess. A young woman must have attained the age of 21, be between 5' 2" and 5' 7", must weigh according to height, be a high school graduate, have two years of college or two years of public contact work and must apply for the job between the ages of 21 and 27. A young woman with two years of college has a better opportunity of obtaining a hostess job.

Although Jo has been with the airline not quite a year, she has encountered many experiences in her job. She had only been with the company a little over three months when one of the passengers suffered a heart attack before coming to Lansing. She knew that it was a heart attack because the coloring of a person that is air sick is quite different. Jo loosened up the man's collar, covered him with a blanket to keep him warm, used ammonia and had the ambulance and rescue squad waiting at the Lansing field. She had the opportunity of seeing this man again when going home for the Christmas holidays, and he was more than grateful for her quick actions and service.

Locked With Baggage

On the humorous side, Jo recently became locked in the rear baggage compartment of the plane ten minutes before landing at Detroit. A passenger had a close connection to make at the Willow Run Airport, and she went to get his bag when the plane bounced and the door shut on her, locking her in. Although Jo banged and hollered all her might, no one heard her until they had landed. Finally, a passenger turned around and saw her frantic waving through the baggage compartment window.

"One word of advice that I have for anyone planning an air flight is that a person should eat a substantial meal. People have the funny idea that if they do not eat, then they will not become air sick, which is wrong. They also should relax and pretend that the sick feeling is just in their head."

Jo ended, "I really enjoy working with North Central Airlines, which is rapidly growing, because I have a lot of time to spend with the passengers. My job never becomes monotonous and I meet many different and nice persons. Every day brings new experiences."

Many Dangers Lurked In Chores Of 'Frog Man' During World War II

By JAMES R. LOWELL

During World War I, American doughboys used to ease the tedium of their never ending tramping over the Western Front by singing a very steppy ditty that always wound up with the meaningless, but very rhythmic line—"Hinky dinky parley voo."

The song had hundreds of verses—all of them ribald—but the one that was sung with the greatest gusto bore this couplet (doctored here for obvious reasons):

"The general got the Croix de Guerre.
The general wasn't even there."

In spite of the light-heartedness with which this verse was sung, it voiced a protest that was keenly felt. These boys had seen, heard, felt and smelt the unspeakable hellishness of war. They had lost comrades and worse—had beheld the gory mutilation that warfare had visited upon other buddies. But credit for accomplishment seemed to be only for those who had given orders from long distance.

Many Vets Feel Slighted

A local veteran of World War II, who has documented proof that he participated in some of the most hazardous and gruelling phases of war in the South Pacific, feels keenly the way the "glamor boys" have reaped credit and publicity for the type of warfare in which he and his outfit participated, while he and his comrades, who pioneered in it have been ignored as though they never existed.

Eddie Fish, of 322 N. 16th St., Escanaba, was a "frog man" during the war. The group to which he belonged was assigned to duty in the South Pacific in the Palau, Leyte and Guam Island areas. Their chief task was to swim to the islands picked out for invasion, make reconnaissance of the situation and blast out obstacles that might interfere with landing craft in getting ashore.

It was a chore that called unusual skill in swimming and diving, extraordinary physical fitness, expert and foolproof knowledge in the handling of explosives and a daring that countenanced no thought of fear.

Branch of Seabees

This particular innovation in modern warfare, Fish explains, was assigned to the Seabees, a branch of the naval service that took care of landing operations and to putting the area in shape for holding after the marines had landed.

Training of Frog Men was, perhaps, on a par in ruggedness with any other hazardous branch of the service. Following a call for volunteers for the service, those who responded were checked over with careful scrutiny. About 200 were finally selected from Fish's outfit and after the first week of training the number retained was down to about 70.

And small wonder that so many fell by the wayside. They were under the tutelage of a group of hardboiled marines just back from the Guadalcanal Sector. First chore of the bat—before breakfast—was a mile of double-time. This allotment of toughening was increased every day to a degree that permitted of no getting used to it. Long hours of other forms of hardening followed in almost non-stop order throughout the day. This included tumbling drill that decimated the ranks still further because of dislocated necks.

"Hell Week"

In a few weeks, training in water was begun along with thorough instruction—both in lar with the Finnish people. Their fairs are much like our fairs. Various displays are exhibited and contests are held for milking by hand, machine milking tractor and horse plowing, 4-H contests in sewing, cooking, etc.

The people love to spin and mostly all of their material is spun from flax at home. Girls are taught the art of spinning and weaving at school.

Central heating is uncommon in the country. The brick stoves are still used, which have to be lighted only once or twice a day because the brick retains the heat for a long period, thus keeping the room warm.

"These exchange students are really good will ambassadors," says Mr. Laakso, "because when you work with a person side by side, you learn to know him and really he is not so different from you, even though his views and ways of doing things may be different than your own. You also learn what is in his heart."

Eddie Fish, front kneeling, and three World War II buddies in the Pacific area.

theory and practice—in the handling of explosives. Railroad ties set deep in the sand, to simulate beach obstacles, were blasted with TNT or other high explosives. There was lots of night drill involving stealthy approach.

Then came what was termed "Hell Week," an ordeal that made all previous assignments seem like a series of pink teas. Skimping rations . . . no sleep . . . miles and miles of swimming—encountering all manner of obstacles and coral shoals that cut like glass. Every effort was timed at speed that tolerated no lagging.

The first assignment in real combat occurred on Sept. 14, 1944, when his contingent blasted installations at Palau Islands. More than four tons of high explosive were used in one blast. Each swimmer bore a 20-lb. unit. Each man set his charge in place and detonated it with a primer cord when the signal was given and all of the force were safely out of harms way.

Most of the obstacles blasted were bamboo trunks and they were very effective in retarding landing craft. There were, of course, other barricades, such as barbed wire entanglements, and submerged rock and concrete objects.

Japan Snipers Busy

"And you may be sure that the Japs were not asleep while this was going on," says Fish. "Even though we were perfectly set for a sneak attack—it was a drizzly night, as black as the bottom of a mine at midnight—and we had blackened our faces and were burdened only with our knives and our pack of explosives and therefore made scarcely any noise—they scented our coming and sprayed the water with machine gun fire. Bullets came whining and skipping all around us. One man in each team had a talkie which kept us in contact with our ship and our rubber boat and he kept directing the ship's gunners as to where to silence the snipers."

"We all had waterproof watches with luminous dials as every detail of our task was timed to the second. When that second to complete the task arrived we headed for our rubber boats. A flare from the ship was the signal to set off the primer cord. We were about a quarter of a mile away when the blast went off and believe me, we felt it. Then we swam to our rubber boat, the man in charge of the boat would throw us a line and pull us in. We'd head for the ship and after a breathing spell undergo some more hell setting buoys to direct traffic of the invasion forces."

"Yes, we had other things to contend with besides snipers. . . . There were sharks, rays and other vicious types of fish and marine life. One of those rays almost got me. I thought I'd been hit by a bullet the way it stung and shocked me, and if one of my team hadn't come to my rescue, I most certainly would have gone under. . . . "Ours was a strictly suicide outfit. Their attitude on life was fatalistic and hard-boiled. There were some ex-cons among them; some men who had parted with their wives or had been divorced, and some were 'booze comedians' but they were at that, a good bunch of fellows—loyal and devoted to each other, and they took great pride in their assignments and accomplishments."

Fish spent 11 months overseas and participated in five major invasions in the eight months he spent in the Palau, Leyte, and Guam areas. His outfit was all set to work on the Philippine invasion and eventually did, but about that time Fish was hospitalized and returned to the States. Later he received a medical discharge.

Many Citations

His unit, Underwater Demolition Team No. 6, has received many citations—one of them signed by Secretary James Forrestal.

Most of these commendations are lengthy and give detailed credit to outstanding accomplishments of the team. This paragraph from one of them is characteristic of the praise in most of them:

"In spite of the difficulties under which you have worked, you have done a good job on everything this team has been directed to do. You have shown courage, skill and obedience in the face of the enemy." The citation also rated this particular team as the "best in the outfit."

But citations and commendations are dry reading for the casual peruser, but when these experiences are glamorized in the pulp and slick magazines they go

Rats Cause Wreck At Fort Wayne, Ind.

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP)—A family of rats homesteading in an old automobile put four motorists in the hospital Friday. One of the rats went along.

This is the report deputy sheriff Robert Bender got: Otis Smith, 40, was driving east in Ind. 324 in his newly purchased jalopy when a rat ran up his back. Another jumped onto his passenger, Allen Skinner, 53, and a third rat ran up Smith's leg.

As Smith swatted at the rats his car collided with one occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Eli Yoder of Grabbill, Ind. All four persons were brought to Parkview Memorial Hospital for treatment of minor injuries.

One rat was still tangled in Smith's hair when he reached the hospital.

Nature takes care of her foolish sons by providing wives to watch over them.

Norman Laakso Describes Finland

ROCK—Norman Laakso, International Farm Youth Exchange delegate to Finland last summer, entertained a large audience at the Rock PTA in the High School auditorium recently by his stories of life in Finland. With the colored slides he used to illustrate his talk, he stirred many fond memories of the many Finnish people around Rock, and familiarized the American born Finns with the life of their fathers in the "old" country.

Mr. Laakso, who has been a 4-H club member in Alger county for eight years, spent four months of last summer living on different farms in Finland for a period of several weeks at each home to acquaint himself with their way of living. Four girls and Mr. Laakso composed the group of 4-H exchange students to Finland from America last summer.

In 1948, when this program was inaugurated, 17 young people participated. Last year 115 4-H club members went to live for the summer in 40 different foreign countries.

Mr. Laakso said that Finland reminded him very much of the Upper Peninsula because of the hills, lakes and forests. On the average, a farmer has about 10-12 acres of land under cultivation. Many of the farms had been quite large before the war, but when during the war Finland gave Karelo to Russia, which was 10 per cent of their land, they had to make room for the 10 per cent of the population which lived in that area, and who were given 24 hours in which to evacuate. So the large farms were divided to make small farms for the refugees.

Do Not Fear Russians

He stated that the Finns do not fear the Russians, but they try not to annoy them and so hope they will be able to get along.

The farmers usually own some timberland and make additional income from timber. They also raise their own grain seed. There are tractors and combines on many of the farms, but horses are still used a great deal and much of the work is still done by hand.

There aren't too many cars in Finland because of cost which is twice as compared to our prices and also the high cost of fuel for operating the vehicle. Electric and gas stoves are not common in the country. However, most farms have electricity and all the farms he lived on had radios. Bicycles and buggies are very common. The agricultural agent is a woman and she gets around on a two wheel buggy which reminds us of the racing buggies here. They are very much interested in 4-H and it is the only country which pays its 4-H club leaders a salary.

The women do much of the work that men do in America. Most of the cows are milked by hand, although about 10 per cent of the farmers now have milking machines and with the coming of the machines, the men have begun to go in the barn to do the milking. Otherwise a dairy maid does this work, often milking outdoors during the summer. The milk maid has to attend a special dairy school for two years in order to qualify for the job which is a very respected position. She also takes care of the chickens, pigs and sheep and her hours are very long.

Coffee Expensive

Women working in the fields earn about 3-4 dollars a day in addition to their meals. There were no jeans or slacks shown in the pictures, but Mr. Laakso said that the younger generation does wear them to some extent.

Breadbaking is an all day project when 30-40 loaves of bread are baked. Pictures showed the brick type ovens used. Coffee cost between 2-6 dollars a pound but they drank much coffee regardless. In addition to the three regular meals, lunch was brought out to the field in the mid-morning and mid-afternoon. Though each locality had different type foods, it all was good. All the girls gained weight. One who tipped the scales at 115 when she went there, weighed 150 when she left Finland.

They do not have too many washing machines and often it is a backbreaking job to do the washing. However, the slides illustrated that the homes were all shining clean and colorful. All the Finns love color, but especially so the Laplanders who live in the far north and make their living by raising reindeer. Each farmer owns about 10-12 reindeer which are marked so they all may graze together.

The Finnish people love celebrations and usually wear their native costume when going to a party, though normally their clothes and hair styles are very much like ours. They are very fond of art and just about every home has some art painting. Rag rugs are scattered on the floors and flowers adorn every room in the house.

Ditches Required

Because the land is very low, it requires ditches. Only a few of the landowners have been able to lay tile for drainage. About 80 per cent of the ditches are open and divide the fields into long strips of 75-100 feet wide.

The hospitals, schools and hotels are very beautifully designed. In every city there is an open market daily, and though one may see oranges and bananas in the market, none of the farms Mr. Laakso worked on, ever served them because they were too expensive. However, the Finnish people have learned to eat vegetables and fruit and even to can them.

In the northern part of Finland, he had the opportunity of taking a bath in the old fashioned "smoke sauna," which has no chimney and the smoke usually remains in the sauna. He even learned to jump in the cold lake after a bath, though at first he thought such a thing impossible.

General Mannerheim

Of the Finnish people, 96 per cent are Lutheran Evangelical. Their churches are beautiful, but, because of the great distance to travel, many do not attend as often as they would like to. However, they listen to the sermon on the radio and have their hymn books and join in the singing of the hymns as though they were in church.

One slide illustrated the beautiful memorial of General Mannerheim. Behind it were all the graves of the soldiers who fell during the winter of 1939. Here and all other places, all the soldiers graves are remembered. A marker and a beautiful plant marks each and every grave.

The Finnish people really have gone overboard in the building of their schools. At seven a youngster starts to school. They are all well dressed as the government allows $15.00 every three months for a child for clothing. If the family is large, then a different allotment is used. The students have hot lunch and their studies are much like ours, except the discipline is more strict. If a student does not intend to go to college, he goes for eight years in the country school where during the last year the girls are taught only home economics and the boys are taught shop and mechanical studies. This is required.

Wear Student Caps

However, if they wish to go to college, they have to make up their minds at a very early age. After four years of the first school, they attend eight years of secondary school. Before entering college, they have to pass a very stiff examination. If they pass the test, but financially are unable to attend, means are provided so they may attend. All college students are required to wear student caps.

Sports are very popular. Even the older people take part in many of the sports activities. During time off at shops, people will be outside playing volleyball, or baseball.

Skiing is taught in the second grade in school. The ones who wish to take part in track, work at it all summer. After the chores are done on the farm in the evening, they will run many miles. Swimming, basketball, ice skating, open country dances are some of the other forms of recreation popu-

New Wonders Will Become Reality In Homes Of Future

The House of the future is taking more reality than dream talk.

Within 25 years new homes may be equipped with gas burners the size of a nickel, refrigerators that aren't cold, wireless electric lamps and heat supplied by atomic furnaces. These wonders have been worked out experimentally, although they are not ready for mass production.

H. F. Koepfer of the University of Minnesota School of Architecture, described them for home builders recently in the American Builder, trade publication of the light construction industry. He observed that the house of the future will be more a matter of "what the public will ask for, rather than what science will provide, although the latter would be more startling."

The reason for that conclusion, he said, is that we always are conservative about housing.

Evidence indicates that when radical changes do occur in American homes, they'll probably come first in the West. This has been demonstrated by features of what is now called "contemporary" architecture. Many of these features were on the drawing boards of Frank Lloyd Wright and a few other bold pioneers around the turn of the century. Although it took about 50 years for them to be widely accepted in the West, they still are outlawed by code in many Eastern communities.

The contrast between the East and the West was especially noticeable in this year's National Home Week competition conducted by the American Builder. Edward G. Gavin, veteran editor of that magazine, was the man who started that annual week. So Gavin's office makes awards each year to the cities which make the most impressive observance of that week.

One of the points considered by the judges was "general over all design of houses displayed." The West won hands down. Seattle was first among the big cities. Dallas was a close runner-up. Wichita took first prize in the next group of cities, with Salt Lake City second.

There were other considerations, but this writer, examining all of the contest entries in Chicago, was especially struck by the regional difference in design. There was very little "old hat" in any town, but obviously it is not enough to blame mortgage lenders entirely for conservatism in house architecture.

What About those previously mentioned wonders for the house of the future? You can't see them in the West, yet, but here's how they work:

The nickel-size gas burner can control heat from a low simmer to speed cooking as effectively as a plate-size burner.

The refrigerator that isn't cold will be a food box filled with gamma radiations instead of cold air, killing all bacteria and thus preserving the food.

Wireless electric lamps will be lit by high-frequency waves. A built-in-radio wave generator would fill your house with unseen, unfelt, high-frequency radiations that would light the phosphors in fluorescent tubes.

And with atomic power plants now under way, heat will be as much of a by-product as the steam from electric plants that heats hundreds of New York skyscrapers today.

Maybe you're not ready for sterile food or a room charged with radiations? Then it's no wonder we're conservative and cling to good old days!

The U. S. Census reports that coal heats half the homes in the Middle Atlantic states.

Workshop Apron Is Safety Item

AP Newsfeatures
Now that Dad has been bitten by the do-it-yourself bug, life often becomes complicated around the old homestead.

The home workshop can be tough on Mom, when it comes to soaking paint stains out of a shirt or mending a pocket ripped by the weight of a hammer. So local sewing center experts suggest that you give the man of the family an ounce of prevention, in the form of a sturdy workshop apron. You can stitch it up in an afternoon using a standard pattern and 1 1/8 yards of sturdy fabric.

Denim or heavy sailcloth will give the best results. Old fashioned mattress ticking also will stand the strain. The apron has enough pockets and straps to please the most gadget-minded worker. A tool strap runs across the apron near the waistline; a double pocket at the bottom has room for sketch pad, nails and screws, tools and even a sandwich. The double top pocket is slotted to hold pencils or chalk. The lower half is just the right size for a pack of cigarettes.

A four-inch adjustable closure on the neck strap makes one apron adjustable to fit any member of the family. Edges are finished with contrasting binding, easy to sew with the multi-slotted binder attachment on your sewing machine.

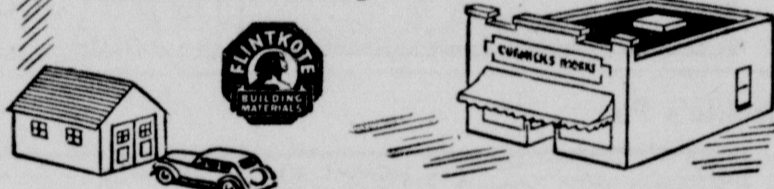

It is suggested that you double-stitch the pockets, using good heavy thread, a size 16 machine

We Have A Stake

Lay persons from all walks of life are meeting this year to consider the needs and problems of education. When they are completed, a national White House Conference will be held to report to the President of the United States on the significant and pressing problems in education.

Conferences are held on so many things in our modern world, that we sometimes become cynical, saying that "it is all well and good to talk, but what are you going to do about it."

But these conferences are different for people like you and I are serving on the discussion panels. In a very real sense they represent us, and a cross section of our thinking. If anything is to be done about it, the burden is upon us, not someone else.

Film On History Of Bible Will Be Shown Here Sunday

The history of the Bible in documentary film, tracing the Gospel story from the first century writings of the Apostles to the most recent revision in 1952, will be shown at Zion Lutheran Church Sunday April 17, at 8:00 p. m.

The motion picture, entitled "Our Bible—How It Came to Us" was produced by the American Bible Society and has a running time of 84 minutes. More than 250 actors participate in the film, which has won wide acclaim from critics. No actor plays more than one role, but these include men and women of many races, colors and historic periods, from ancient Hebrews to American Sunday School children of today.

An early scene shows a hooded figure whose face is not revealed. This is described as Jesus reading aloud from the scroll of Isaiah to a small group of people in a Nazareth synagogue. From there the story moves through the early writings of the Apostles and the Emperor Constantine, who early in the fourth century ordered fifty copies made of original manuscripts, down to the Jerome and Latin Vulgate.

The history continues through episodes which depict Martin Luther, William Tyndale, who was burned at the stake, and King James I of England, who was responsible in 1611 for the version familiar to Protestant churches for more than 300 years. It shows also the discovery in the 19th century of Greek manuscripts and other archaeological finds which led to several modern revisions culminating in the Revised Standard Version of 1953.

The resources of the Metropolitan museum, the Cloisters, the Morgan library, and some libraries abroad were drawn upon to make the picture authentic in every detail.

The public is invited to the program.

Charles E. Forsythe, the state director of high school athletics, almost missed attending the ninth annual Central League basketball banquet in Rock Thursday night. Forsythe had a plane reservation from Lansing to Escanaba but learned at the last minute Thursday morning that the flight would not get him here. So he drove the distance by automobile in order to be at the dinner honoring the Little Giants and other league members.

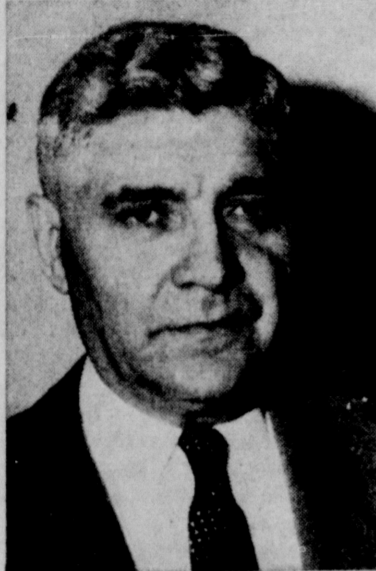

The state prep sports chief was very enthusiastic about the Upper Peninsula Invitational basketball tournament that is being planned by Holy Name High School this spring. He said there were a number of good invitational meets in Lower Michigan, with probably the main one at Grand Rapids, and they are very successful each year. "The MHSAA is strongly in favor of basketball on a high school level, although the difficulties of staging a state championship tournament are very great," he said. The MHSAA has no immediate plans for a state baseball tourney.

Among the main obstacles to a state championship meet are the shortness of the season, expenses of travel and equipment, and possible conflict with other organized baseball activity in various parts of the state. At least three weeks would be required to bring the tournament down to the finals and this would virtually eliminate any conference or league activity among schools.

"One of the nice things about baseball as a high school sport is that the game is just about as much fun to practice as it is to play," Forsythe said. It is one of the most popular sports in the state high school picture, he added. In fact, only basketball attracts more candidates among the high school sports. Of the 728 schools in Michigan, 695 have basketball teams. About 550 have baseball teams, and around 500 sponsor football and track.

John Gaffney, Houghton's U. P. Coach of the Year, entertained with tales of his experiences downstate as the Gremlins captured the Class C championship. He said that after he and Ralph Hurley, star guard on the team, had ridden to their floor in the Olds Hotel elevator, the elevator girl said to Hurley: "Here's your floor, Sonny." The eager replied, "You're not my mother so don't call me Sonny." The girl quipped back: "I brought you up, didn't I?"

The films of the Class C and Class D championship games were exceptionally good. Gaffney gave a running narration on Houghton's game and John Wilson, ex-Mass mentor, gave a running commentary on the Rockets' game. One of the officials on the Jensen Field House floor was Norm Slough of Rapid River, who is secretary-treasurer of the Central League.

Marv Ropele Resigns As Powers Prep Coach

POWERS — Marvin Ropele, football and basketball coach at Powers-Spalding High School, yesterday announced his resignation effective after this school year.

A graduate of Northern Michigan College of Education in 1932, Ropele has been at Powers for three years. He holds a B. S. degree in elementary and secondary education along with physical education. He started at Powers as assistant football coach to Jerry Anzalone and assistant basketball coach to Irv Soderlund.

In 1953 Ropele took charge of football and last season his team posted a 4-2 season record. As head coach in basketball this season Ropele guided his Tigers to the co-championship of the Little Seven Conference. Powers lost to Rock, 42-40, in the district tournament finals, and had an over-all record of 15 wins and 5 losses.

Ropele, who has not announced his plans for the future, leaves 10 lettermen in football and five in basketball.

Yank's Noren Is Suspended

BOSTON (AP) — Outfielder Irv Noren of the New York Yankees was under indefinite suspension by American League president Will Harridge today as a result of a jam with Umpire Bill McKinley.

Noren was thrown out of Thursday's game with the Red Sox in Fenway Park after he charged McKinley following a close decision at home plate. The New Yorker was called out trying to score from second base.

McKinley wired a preliminary report after the game and mailed a complete report later. At one point in the incident, the umpire appeared to be trying to fend off the irate player with his protective mask.

"I was jostled and bumped," the umpire said. "I didn't hit Noren with my mask—I held it up to hold off the spit."

Noren, who got word of the suspension just before Friday's game, said:

"I didn't intentionally spit on the umpire. I still insist I was safe. I think Mr. Harridge should hear my side of the story."

Mims Gets Nod In Slow Bout

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Holly Mims and Bobby Jones, two highly ranked middleweights, clutched and pawed at each other for 10 rounds Friday night to earn their "city of brotherly love" pins.

Not even the between-round urgings of Referee Jack Clayton, who was being urged by State Athletic Commissioner Al Klein, could produce any action for the handful of fans and the national television audience.

The fourth ranked Mims earned the unanimous decision of the two judges and the referee with mild ruffles of combination punching and a point producing left jab. Judge Jim Mina and Referee Clayton each carded Mims a 63-1 winner while Judge Nat Lopinson liked the Washington fighter 7-2-1. The Associated Press scored Mims an 8-2 victor.

Score Is Okay, Says Al Lopez

DETROIT (AP)—The "can't miss" tag still fits rookie Herb Score, although his first start for the Cleveland Indians was hardly a howling success.

The 21-year-old southpaw, glamor boy among baseball's newcomers, struck out nine but walked nine too as he pitched the Indians into first place with a 7-3 victory over the Detroit Tigers Friday.

"He did a good job and I'm satisfied," said Indian Manager Al Lopez. "He was a little tight because it was his first game, but I thought his curve ball looked exceptionally well."

Three times the youngster from Lake Worth, Fla., pitched out of two-on-base jams by fanning Fred Hatfield, Ferris Fain and Harvey Kuenn.

Score, who broke a 48-year-old record in the American Assn. with Indianapolis last season by striking out 330 batters, got four Tigers on swinging strikes and five on called strikes.

Furgol, Wall Lead In Open

GREENSBORO, N. C. (AP)—U. S. Open champ Ed Furgol of St. Louis and Art Wall Jr., of Ponca City, Mo., shared the driver's seat going into today's second round of the $12,500 greater Greensboro Open golf tournament, but they couldn't afford to relax despite opening rounds of 66's.

They were only one stroke ahead of Jerry Barber, the veteran from Los Angeles. Seventeen other players were within easy striking distance after par 70 or under efforts.

Today's 60 low pros and ties with 10 amateurs will move into Sunday's 36-hole windup.

Back of the top three the traffic was terrific. Tied at 68 were Sam Snead, gunning for his fifth Greensboro victory; Julius Boros, Ted Kroll, Frank Stranahan, and Mike Fitchick, the Nahopac, N. Y., pro.

Six shooters tied at 69, headed by Mike Soucek, the former football player from Durham, N. C. He was joined by Doug Ford last year's winner here; Gardner Dickinson, St. Andrews Ill., Paul Harney, Worcester, Mass., Bill Nary, Reno, Nev., and Marty Furgol, Lemont, Ill.

Ken Loeffler, coach of the LaSalle College basketball team, not only teaches at LaSalle but also at Temple. Both schools are in Philadelphia.

Hilliard Green is the oldest member of the University of North Carolina basketball team. He is 26 and a junior.

Eddie Joe Buck, rookie trying for a berth with the Boston Red Sox this spring, has a degree in agricultural economics from Oklahoma A & M.

Big Doubles Count Is Blasted In ABC

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP)—The American Bowling Congress tournament started its 22nd day today and two of the championships might already be decided.

A couple of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., bowlers blasted the race for the doubles crown wide open Friday with a sizzling 1,365 count, a score which would have won all but five of the previous titles.

Harry O'Zeller and George Papacris combined for the pin-heavy count, which is 75 pins better than the previous high, a 1,290 by George Lutzen and Bill Hilligoss of Niles, Mich.

Eddie Gerzine of Milwaukee held his singles lead of 738, which he shot the third day of the tournament. A 723 won the singles championship last year.

Jim Ripley Will Be Little Seven Speaker

HERMANVILLE — Jim Ripley, veteran sports editor of the Menominee Herald-Leader, who will become editor of the newspaper on May 1, will be the main speaker at the first annual Little Seven Conference basketball banquet here Saturday, April 30.

Hermansville and Powers-Spalding, conference co-champions, will be host to all teams and coaches in the league. The banquet will begin at 7 p. m. Banquet tickets are being sold in advance and will not be available at the door.

Floyd Swift Winner In Archery Match

FLOYD SWIFT fired a high 192 score to take top honors in this week's Red Buck Archery Club match at Club 314.

Peter Heleshen was second with 187 and Harold Winchester third with 166. Scores were made on a possible high of 270.

Other shooters, in order of finish, were Thorald Papineau, Alfred Gossan, Gerald Horschner, Bob Murray, Tom Needham, Bill Anderson and Francis Lueneburg.

Sport Shorties

Martin Ruby, now Tulsa University line coach, played in the Cotton Bowl Game twice—each with a different team. In 1942 he played for Texas A & M. In 1944 he was on the Randolph Field team.

Ken Loeffler, coach of the LaSalle College basketball team, not only teaches at LaSalle but also at Temple. Both schools are in Philadelphia.

Hilliard Green is the oldest member of the University of North Carolina basketball team. He is 26 and a junior.

Eddie Joe Buck, rookie trying for a berth with the Boston Red Sox this spring, has a degree in agricultural economics from Oklahoma A & M.

When Holdrege (Neb.) High School and Geneva meet in basketball the "Crow Trophy," a stuffed crow, goes to the loser.

That put the Brooks in a first place tie with idle Chicago. The loss dumped the world champions into last place with Cincinnati at 0-3.

The Giants are a sad contrast to the Cleveland Indians, who find themselves right where they left off in the American League—all alone on top. Cleveland took over the undisputed lead by beating Detroit 7-3 as Herb Score, the Tribe's rookie phenom, fanned nine in his first start.

Turley Tosses Win New York's Yankees kept Boston from gaining a share of the lead with Cleveland by knocking off Boston 6-4. Bob Turley, the defending strike-out king, went Score one better by fanning 10.

The only other scheduled game, Philadelphia at Pittsburgh, was postponed because of wet grounds. The Giants never had a chance against the Brooklyn's Friday, what with Duke Snder powering a 425-foot home run with two in the fifth. That broke a 1-1 tie and it only remained for Furillo to ice it away with his two blows.

Ruben Gomez, No. 3 man on the Giants' pitching staff, was the victim.

Loes In Form Billy Loes, also ahead of his 1954 schedule, had the Giants in control on six hits.

Score, the 21-year-old lefty who's been the talk of the spring, was somewhat erratic against the Tigers, but came through in the clutch. He allowed seven hits and walked as many as he struck out, but three times fanned batters with two men on base to end threats.

Cleveland, which now has won three on nine-inning jobs by Bob Lemon, Mike Garcia and Score with the rest of its vaunted staff unheard from, got its power from Bobby Avila and Al Rosen. Avila, the AL bat champ, drove in three runs with a single, double and triple. Rosen had three RBIs with two sacrifice flies and a double.

Hot Rod Club To Hold Meeting Monday Night

The spring organizational meeting of the Escanaba Drag-n's Hot Rod Club will be held Monday at 7:30 p. m. at the club room at 1418 Washington Ave.

The meeting is open to the public and Kemp Sabourin, club president, said that among the guests will be a representative of the Escanaba Police department, Escanaba service clubs, business and professional people.

Main purpose of the meeting is to explain the by-laws and purposes of the hot rod group. Plans for a drag strip, on which the Drag-n's drivers will race against time, will be explained.

The hot rod club was formed here in mid-winter along the lines of similar clubs in Iron Mountain and other cities. From a small group the club membership has now increased to over 25, Sabourin stated.

Officials of the organization hope to get a large attendance at the Monday night meeting so that they can make public their plans for safe, well-organized activities this summer.

Indianapolis 500 Draws List Of 54

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—The Indianapolis Motor Speedway today announced four more 500-mile race entries, postmarked before the deadline at midnight Friday.

Murrell Belanger of Crown Point, Ind., entered a new Belanger Special and named Art Cross of La Porte, Ind., to drive it. Joe Thorne of Las Vegas, Nev., entered a car without a driver.

The latest entries increased to 54 the list of aspirants for the May 30 race, in which only the fastest 33 may start. The Speedway said additional nominations may be in the mail and will be accepted if they are postmarked before the deadline.

Harris Has Same Old Pitching Troubles Hutch Had At Detroit

By JOE FALLS DETROIT (AP) — When Bucky Harris replaced Freddie Hutchinson as manager of the Detroit Tigers, he inherited the youngest team in the American League.

He also inherited all of Hutchinson's pitching problems.

After only four games, Harris' big problem—as was Hutchinson's—is pitching. Or to be more accurate, the lack of pitching.

Harris has had to use 12 pitchers in the Tigers' first four games—an average of three per game. Only Steve Gromek has pitched nine full innings. Nobody else has

Billy Graham Quits After 126 Pro Bouts

NEW YORK (AP)—Billy Graham has called it quits in the ring after 14 years and 126 pro fights. "I guess I just haven't got it any more," admitted the 32-year-old New Yorker.

The veteran welterweight, who came within a shade of winning the crown from Kid Gavilan in 1951, hung up the gloves Friday to go into business.

Four straight defeats induced Billy to retire. He lost only 15 of his 126 bouts.

"I've had a lot of fun, met a lot of nice people, and done my share of traveling," he said. "Now that I'm quitting I have no complaints. My only regret is that I didn't win a title."

George Crowe, infielder with the Milwaukee Braves, played for two years in the Negro National League together with such stars as Larry Doby, Monte Irvin and Luke Easter.

Only Two Walks;
Turley Is Proud

BOSTON (P)—Bob Turley, blazing fastball pitcher acquired by New York from Baltimore during the winter, apparently has regained the control the Yankees hope will pay off in an American League pennant this year.

"I'm more proud of those walks than the 10 strikeouts," beamed the big right-hander in the dressing room Friday after beating the Boston Red Sox 6-4 on a five-hitter. It was his first regular-season appearance in the new uniform and quite impressive.

Control had been a problem for talented, 24-year old Robert Lee Turley of Troy, Ill.

Turley's tremendous speed was the big factor as he led the league in strikeouts with 185 at Baltimore in 1954, but he also set the pace with 181 bases on balls.

In his Yankee debut, Turley didn't give a walk until two were out in the seventh inning. Only rough spots for Bullet Bob came out on bad pitches but ones that were a little too good. All four runs scored on a pair of home runs by Fay Throneberry and one by Jackie Jensen.

Escanaba Leads In Bank Debits

Bank debits in Escanaba in March totaled $11,262,000. Marquette was second with $10,801,000.

Escanaba also continues to lead in cumulative bank debits since the first of the year. Total bank debits in Escanaba for the first three months were $31,833,000. ## Moves To Marquette

JACKSON (P)—Homer Hilton Jr., assistant vice president of the National Bank of Jackson, resigned Friday to become vice president and trust officer of the Union Bank at Marquette.

Two Girls Injured In Auto Collision

Two Marquette young women were injured, neither seriously, in a collision of two autos yesterday at 4 p. m. at the intersection of Lake Shore Drive and 12th Ave. S. They are:

Sharon Dollar, 16, of 321 Hampton St., Marquette, lacerated left knee, and Barbara Dollar, 17, of 415 Genesee St., Marquette, sprained right knee and bruises to the right leg. Both girls were treated at St. Francis Hospital.

They were passengers in a car driven by Elaine G. Anderson of Wells, who was driving south on Lake Shore Drive. Her car was struck almost head-on by a car driven by Robert A. Haglund of Skandia, who was driving east on 12th Ave. S. and entered Lake Shore Drive without coming to a halt at a stop sign.

Haglund suffered a cut on the forehead. He was ticketed by police for disobeying a stop sign and failing to yield the right of way. Damage to each car was estimated at $250, police reported.

Smelt Run Opens On Most Delta Streams

This weekend will provide smelt dipping on most rivers and streams in Delta County, according to the Michigan Department of Conservation district office at Escanaba.

Conservation officers said the run was starting off well on the Escanaba, Rapid, Tacooish, Days and other rivers entering Little Bay de Noc, but no fish were taken at Ford River and Bark River last night. Heavy runs are under way on the Sturgeon at Nahma.

The perch run has not yet started at Garden, but it is expected soon. Spawning perch were being taken in large number yesterday at Rapid River, the conservation office reported.

Iron Mines Return To 5-Day Work Week

ISHPEMING—Effective Monday, April 18, all Cleveland-Cliffs Iron Co. mines now working four days will return to a five-day, two-shift week, Grover Holt, general manager, announced.

The brief announcement ended a year and 18 days of shortened work weeks, with smaller paychecks, for most operations. One unit, the Humboldt mine, will not be affected. The Humboldt beneficiation operations already is on a seven-day work week.

Last year's steel market slump forced the company, which operates a majority of Marquette Range mines, to cut back to a four-day week and to reduce working forces at five mines.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

By Josephine Culbertson

TOO WOODEN

A DEFENDER'S slavish devotion to "rules of play" cost his partnership a great many match-points on the following board in a duplicate game.

South dealer.
North-South vulnerable.

♠ Q 7 6
♥ J 10 4 3 2
♦ 9 5
♣ 9 6 4

♠ J 9 8 4 2
♥ 7 5

♠ A 10
♥ K Q 8
♦ A K Q J
♣ A K 7 3

At most of the tables North became declarer at six hearts, and that contract was makable by expert play. East had too much: it was relatively easy to squeeze him so that he had to give up his club protection or blank his king of spades.

One South wasn't satisfied to let the hand play at a heart contract; he went all out for a "top" with this (rather reckless) bidding:

South West North East
3 NT Pass 4♥ Pass
4 NT Pass 5♥ Pass
6 NT Pass Pass Pass

Distributed by King Features Syndicate

At match-points, particularly, South's rebid of notrump at the four-level was not necessarily conventional, but North elected to treat it as a Blackwood bid, and when he went to five clubs, South could be pretty sure that his partner was saying "No ace." This made South's six-notrump bid a dangerous speculation (in contrast to a six-heart contract), but, as it happened, South's optimism was rewarded.

West opened the four of spades, dummy played low, and East put on the king as though any other play were unthinkable. That settled the matter, once and for all. South could knock out the heart ace at his leisure, gain sure entry to dummy with the spade queen, and easily collect two spade tricks, four hearts, four diamonds and two clubs.

In view of the bidding, it was suicidal for East to play his spade king on the first trick. Obviously enough, if he had ducked the opening lead, he would have kept the spade king to shut out dummy's queen as an entry, and then all he had to do was to hold up the heart ace for two rounds.

Jamboree Proceeds Will Be Used For Sight Saving Fund

GARDEN — The Smelt Jamboree, which will be held by the Garden Peninsula Lions club at the Garden Community hall April 24, will officially open White Cane week, which will be observed in Michigan from April 24 through April 30 this year.

Local schools will assist in the educational effort by distributing printed leaflets which have been prepared and furnished by Lions clubs of Michigan in cooperation with the local Lions club.

Thousands of white canes have been furnished free of charge to blind people all over the state. It is the aim of the Lions to provide every blind person with a white cane, the symbol of blindness, as a measure of protection. The state legislature in 1936 included an ordinance granting the right of way to a person carrying the white cane.

Proceeds from the Smelt Jamboree will be used to build up the sight saving fund of the Lions club. During the past year, numerous eye examinations and glasses for local school children have been paid for from this fund. It is hoped to expand this program to include other needy people of the area.

Chou had refused the refueling facilities of the British - owned Burma Oil Co. His aircraft had carried its own fuel all the way from Kunming, China, where it had collected him and his aides.

All these precautions doubtless were the consequence of the crash of another chartered Indian plane carrying eight Red Chinese to Indonesia last Monday. Peiping radio said it had been sabotaged.

Chou had to cancel a scheduled stop at Penang, Malaya, and put down at Singapore because of bad weather.

Chou and his party of 22 took off for Jakarta after lunch. Before they left the British commissioner general for Southeast Asia, Malcolm MacDonald, chatted with the Chinese premier.

Ground Observers Have 35 Posts In Three-County Area

Thirty five ground observer posts are active in the Air Defense program in Delta, Schoolcraft and Alger counties, T/Sgt. Donald C. Peterson has announced.

Family groups have played a major role in the operation of the ground observer posts, Sgt. Peterson reported. Some are maintained in conjunction with grocery stores, service stations, post offices, etc.

Telephone circuits are cleared from the observer posts to the Green Bay Filter Center to permit spotters to call Green Bay in a matter of seconds. The reports are relayed to radar stations for identification purposes. If planes cannot be identified, the nearest Jet Interceptor base sends out a pilot for visual identification.

Ground observer posts are operated by civilian volunteers who are unpaid but who perform their duties as a patriotic service.

Posts in operation in Delta, Schoolcraft, and Alger Counties are:
